Welcome from the President and CEO

Welcome to the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities' 33rd Annual Conference, "Championing Hispanic Higher Education Success: Meeting the Challenge of Prosperity and Equity." We are especially excited to bring our premier conference on Hispanic higher education back to Chicago, Ill., a city which has embraced us warmly in the past. Educational institutions in this region, as well as from across the nation and around the world, will be sending representatives to join us, and we are always delighted to welcome supporters from the government, business and nonprofit sectors.

The Opening Plenary will feature an update on the State of HACU. The International Plenary will address the important topic of "International Partnerships: Joint and Dual Degree Programs, Faculty/Student Exchanges, Joint Research Projects and More." The Town Hall will feature a panel of university leaders exploring the topic, "Hispanic-Serving Institution: What exactly should that mean?"

We hope all the activities planned for the next few days will provide a wealth of information, as well as opportunities to connect and network with other higher education professionals who share your dedication to Hispanic higher education success. The conference workshops and pre- and post-conference events address topics of relevance to HSIs, emerging HSIs and Hispanic-Serving School Districts, as well as those organizations and institutions who partner with them.

We are also offering workshop sessions for undergraduate students geared specifically towards leadership and career success, now in its second year as the renamed Student Track - HACU ¡Adelante! Leadership Institute. We thank those institutions that have brought students to participate in this unique and popular track, which provides young people with the skills to build better futures. We also thank those who sponsored student scholars and are investing in our leaders of tomorrow.

During the conference, HACU will recognize those individuals, institutions and organizations who have made a difference in Hispanic higher education and have supported our work unhesitatingly. You will have a chance to meet the 2019 honorees when we recognize and celebrate them during our luncheons.

Thanks to all those whose support, feedback and advice will make the 33rd Annual Conference a great success: our conference sponsors, media partners, exhibitors, advertisers and the local Host and Advisory Committee here in Chicago. We are grateful for the ongoing participation and support of HACU's Governing Board, whose leadership and guidance are always invaluable to our conferences' success.

I hope that you form new and lasting friendships or reconnect with colleagues from colleges and universities, visit with agencies and organizations who share our mission, and gain fresh ideas and energy to champion Hispanic higher education success.

Cordially,

Antonio R. Flores
President and CEO

Welcome from the Chair

On behalf of the Governing Board of the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities, I am pleased to welcome you to HACU's 33rd Annual Conference in Chicago for this three-day event, where we are certain you will find the workshops, activities and pre- and post-conference events to be informative as well as enjoyable.

This conference offers a variety of opportunities to learn and connect with colleagues dedicated to the success of our students. The Fifth PreK-12/Higher Education Collaboration Symposium will feature panels discussing collaborations to build pathways/pipelines from PK-12 to college and career. The 18th Latino Higher Education Leadership Institute addresses topics helpful to those seeking to move up the ranks in educational leadership and features words of advice from a Presidents' Panel. The theme will be "Advancing Your Career While Maintaining Your Authentic Self." The Deans' Forum enters its eighth year focusing on the topic "How Institutions are Increasing Equity and Driving Economic and Social Mobility."

A hallmark of our conference is the HACU ¡Adelante! Leadership Institute, which draws more than 500 college students from a wide range of academic disciplines to participate in career and leadership development activities.

The Exhibit Hall, a perennial favorite of the annual conference, offers networking as well as career and educational advancement opportunities. As part of our local community outreach, the exhibit hall will be open to the public on Sunday for a College and Career Fair, featuring workshops on college readiness and career preparation for both students and their families.

Our generous sponsors, partners, exhibitors and advertisers have always been instrumental in making this gathering possible and deserve our heartfelt thanks for their support and the countless ways in which they help us champion Hispanic higher education success. Please make the most of the conference while here and renew your dedication in serving our students!

Sincerely,

Félix V. Matos Rodríguez
Chair, HACU Governing Board

Without a Heart, it's just a machine.

So in 1971, a little Heart built a different kind of airline—one that made sure everyone could fly.

Everyone has important places to go. So we invented low-fares to help them get there.

To us, you're not 1A or 17B. You're a person with a name, like Steve.

Here, we think everyone deserves to feel special, no matter where you sit or how much you fly.

And with all the places we're going next, we'll always put you first, because our love of People is still our most powerful fuel.

Some say we do things differently.

We say, why would we do things any other way?

Without a Heart, it's just a machine.

GenerationGo! Career Pathways Program
Williford C - Third Floor
GenerationGo! Career Pathways Program is a collaboration between San Bernardino Valley College, San Bernardino County Workforce Development Department, the K-12, and a business that offers high school students an opportunity to earn college credits, learn job readiness skills, and apply these skills and training through work-based learning with a partnering local business. Students are dual enrolled in courses offered through SBVC, receive a Job Readiness Skills Certificate, and are placed in an internship with participating businesses based on the student's career pathways while earning college credit. Learn more about key elements of this model that will give you new ideas for turning your youth into GenerationGo!

Meeting Workforce Needs Collaboratively: Los Alamos National Lab and Local Colleges
Boulevard AB - Second Floor
The region's largest employer, Los Alamos National Laboratory, recognized a severe workforce shortage that would create a need for about 1,000 new hires for the next five years. Based on an internal needs analysis, LANL created a collaborative partnership with the six colleges and universities in the area. Working together, these institutions have committed to prepare a large portion of the workers to meet the identified critical needs.

Hispanic-Serving School Districts Roundtable Discussion: An Interdisciplinary Collaborative Partnership
Boulevard C - Second Floor
Our Lady of the Lake University and Rodriguez Elementary School, located in the San Antonio Independent School District, partnered to improve student performance, teacher effectiveness and overall school culture. Rodriguez Elementary is a small neighborhood, Title 1, inner-city school that serves a highly diverse student population. In Academic Year 2017-2018, the school was identified as IR4 (Improvement Required) by the Texas Education Agency. The school leadership team and university faculty worked together to improve student performance, teacher effectiveness and prepare university students for work in high need schools. OLLU and Rodriguez Elementary developed an innovative partnership to provide support for students and teachers through clinical teaching and field experiences for teaching candidates, and wrap around social work and speech therapy services through assessment and specifically designed intervention groups.

Implementing All-Inclusive and Digital Learning: An HSI Student Success Initiative
Williford A - Third Floor
In 2014 Tarrant County College designed a plan to reduce the cost of education. The advent of online learning along with including course materials was seen as an ideal set of conditions to increase student success. The institution implemented an all-inclusive program to afford students access to course materials starting day one at a reduced cost. This session discusses the planning, lessons learned and outcomes of implementing an all-inclusive program paired with online learning.

Lower Retention Rates for Hispanic Students: A Major Problem?
Marquette Room - Third Floor
Stanislaus State retains fewer Hispanic than non-Hispanic students, which can be traced to the majors that students initially declare and to differential tendencies to change majors. Retention is particularly problematic for Hispanics in STEM majors, and retention rates are higher for students who have changed majors. These findings suggest Hispanic degree completion can be improved by targeting issues specific to STEM majors, and by encouraging students to explore different majors.

Coastal Bend College has identified champions to assume leadership roles among the faculty and instructional coordinators. From strategic job posting, to establishing diverse interview committees, to sponsoring student clubs, to taking on administrative duties and college leadership roles. With upwards of a 70% Hispanic student body, it has become imperative for our college to consider Hispanic professors as mentors, role models, and college leaders. CBC faculty will share their journey into assuming these roles.

Roadmap to Latino Prosperity: A Model for Institutional Renewal
Astoria Room - Third Floor

This one-of-a-kind Roadmap to Latino Prosperity is a template collaboratively designed by nearly 60 Latino leaders through a series of facilitated forums between 2017-2018. The Roadmap features a pivotal framework, strategies, and recommendations to advance and accelerate Latino education and workforce development. Latinos are projected to reach 30% of the population between 2050-60. The Roadmap argues that Latino prosperity is a national economic imperative, providing fruitful strategies for coalition-building and new pathways for institutional renewal.

Bolstering Latino Undergraduate Retention Through Faculty Mentored Student Research
Williford B - Third Floor

The focus of this workshop is to showcase the relationship between academic support services and Latino student success through a case study of the University of Illinois at Chicago's Latin American Recruitment & Educational Services advanced research course. Students who enrolled in this course work with a faculty mentor in developing an original research poster to be showcased at professional conferences. Survey data from participants reveals that this course leads to greater academic confidence, self-efficacy, and persistence among Latino students.

Paving the Road for Minority Male Success at Hispanic Serving Community Colleges
Marquette Room - Third Floor

The interactive workshop will focus on programs at Bronx Community College and Phoenix College that supports minority males. The presenters will discuss two co-curricular programs at Hispanic-serving community colleges that intertwined academics and student affairs to increase persistence and graduation rates among minority males. The guided discussion will present ways in which administrators, staff, and faculty can help integrate minority males into community colleges while developing and providing appropriate services for student success.

Mentorship and Beyond: More Graduates, Better Job Opportunities
Boulevard AB - Second Floor

Effective mentor figures can help enhance Hispanic student retention rates and their ability to land more desirable job opportunities. This roundtable session focuses on effective mentoring of minority students and strategies for improving their retention and ultimately their success in the job market. A panel of Hispanic professors will share best practices and engage audience members in discussions to address some big picture issues and major roadblocks in the mentoring process.

Leveraging Data to Increase FAFSA and Postsecondary Enrollment Rate
Williford C - Third Floor

For many students, the convoluted process of applying for financial aid and college is what prevents them from successfully transitioning to a postsecondary institution after high school. Arizona State University and their partner the Be A Leader Foundation have developed a successful model that has in two short years increased FAFSA completion rates for Arizona's largest high school district and concurrently increased post-secondary enrollment.

Left Out in Higher Education Leadership: Where are the Latinas?
Williford A - Third Floor

California's Latina college students represented the largest demographic group in 2016-17. For these Latinas, seeing college leaders that resembled them and shared common experiences spelled the difference between success or failure. Yet, leadership is far from diverse, and Latinas are notably absent from these vital roles. This presentation takes a closer look at the connection between race/ethnicity and gender to shed light on how a lack of proportional representations impacts Latinas on campus.

Tips on How to Retain Hispanic Males in College
Williford B - Third Floor

This workshop will address in particular the trends of retention and graduation of Hispanic male students at colleges and universities across the country. One of the lowest rates of retention and graduation are African-American and Hispanic males. We will investigate why this is happening on the college campuses and what can be done in order to stem the tide of our males not graduating with their degree.

Building the K-12 Pipeline Through Teaching Academies
Boulevard AB - Second Floor

The need for exemplary programs that embrace and foster the success of Hispanic students is more critical than ever. Teacher attrition and declining interest in teacher preparation programs have created vacancies that require school districts to find quality teachers to fill in the void. We argue this can be strategically addressed through teaching academies, aimed at inspiring a diverse pool of potential candidates. Teaching academies provide an opportunity for Hispanic communities to grow their own.

Defining Latinidad at your Institution: A Toolkit for Dynamic Engagement
Marquette Room - Third Floor
As the rate of Latinx students increases in higher education, the retention and graduation rates remain stagnant. Nationally, as more institutions increase diversity efforts, much of the work to create an inclusive environment remains on the shoulders of Latinx faculty and staff, multicultural and/or Latino cultural centers that remain under-resourced or emotionally taxed. This presentation provides strategies to engage students, faculty and staff in diversity, inclusion and equity efforts across campus.

Town Hall Meeting
Hispanic-Serving Institution: What exactly should that mean?
Grand Ballroom - Second Floor

Twenty-seven years ago, HACU led the effort to convince Congress to formally recognize colleges and universities with high Hispanic enrollment as federally designated Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs), and to begin targeting federal appropriations to those campuses. Three years later, federal funding for HSIs was appropriated for the first time. Today, HSIs represent 523 colleges and universities nationwide, and each year an average of 30 more institutions become HSIs. Hispanic student enrollment rates are predicated to far exceed all other groups in the near future. Many in the education community are taking a closer look at factors beyond demographic growth and strategically rethinking how these changes might define how HSIs are "serving" Hispanic students, their surrounding communities and evaluating the outcomes of their efforts.

MillerCoors – Building Your Personal Brand with Purpose
Salon C 5-6 - Lower Level

Nearly 80 percent of brands could disappear, and no one would care, according to a recent study. Brands have to do more than they ever have to break through the clutter to get consumers' attention, but the ones that do it best are the ones that are viewed as meaningful and have a clear purpose and point-of-view. The best marketing in the world connects to people at the human level. This presentation will provide examples of brands who have a clear purpose, as well as provide a model to help build personal brands by leveraging individual differences and attributes in order to best shape how others perceive you and begin opening doors.

IES Abroad Celebrates the Latinx Student Community, Hispanic-Serving Institutions & Study Abroad

When Latinx students from Hispanic-Serving Institutions study abroad, they expand what it means to be from the United States—they represent the rich, vibrant mosaic that makes up our culture.

To provide support for our Latinx students, IES Abroad launched Tu Mundo in 2017. This outreach initiative was designed specifically to help more students at Hispanic Serving-Institutions/Emerging Hispanic Serving-Institutions to study abroad and intern abroad.

The goal of Tu Mundo, an interactive workshop, is to inspire more Latinx students to study abroad through:

- Personalized study abroad scholarship-writing sessions
- Résumé building tips
- Branded on-campus events
- Airfare giveaways
- And social media outreach

In return, Tu Mundo works to support our goal of continually increasing diverse and underrepresented student participation.

Effective Fall 2020

Located in historic New Haven, a city rich in art and culture, Southern Connecticut State University is a diverse and student-centered university dedicated to academic excellence, access, and service for the public good. Southern provides a supportive and welcoming environment for all members of its community through a campus wide commitment to social justice.

Southern invites applications from individuals who believe in the mission of public higher education and are committed to outstanding teaching and scholarship/creative activity. Successful candidates will be disciplinary scholars devoted to a student-centric approach.

The university is home to numerous centers, including the Center for Educational and Assistive Technology, the Werth Center for Coastal and Marine Studies, the Center for Communications Disorders, the Center for Excellence on Autism Spectrum Disorders, the CSU Center for Nanotechnology, and the NSF-supported Center for Research on Interface Structures and Phenomena. Southern enrolls approximately 10,000 students in 71 undergraduate majors and 64 graduate degree programs. Offering degrees primarily at the bachelors and masters levels, Southern also offers select doctoral degrees and sixth year diplomas. Southern is the flagship of graduate education in the Connecticut State Colleges and Universities (CSCU) system and an institution of choice among undergraduates in the state.

All positions are contingent upon the availability of resources and needs of our students. SCSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity employer. The University seeks to enhance the diversity of its faculty and staff. People of color, women, veterans, and persons with disabilities are strongly encouraged to apply.

These positions include multidepartment cluster hires in the following areas: (1) Climate Change/ Blue Economy, (2) Equity, Social Mobility and Access, and (3) Healthcare Informatics. A detailed description of all faculty positions and application instructions can be found at: SouthernCT.edu/faculty-staff/hr/jobs.html

About HACU

For over thirty years, the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities has advocated on behalf of Hispanic higher education in the U.S. and around the world. The mission of the Association is to Champion Hispanic Success in Higher Education. HACU fulfills its mission by: promoting the development of member colleges and universities; improving access to and the quality of postsecondary educational opportunities for Hispanic students; and meeting the needs of business, industry and government through the development and sharing of resources, information and expertise.

HACU is the only organization that represents existing and emerging Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs). HSIs today represent 15 percent of all institutions of higher education and enroll 66 percent of Hispanic undergraduates. HACU serves its membership through advocacy, conferences, partnerships and educational programs, and offers scholarships and internship opportunities for students.

HACU, is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) association with a membership of more than 500 colleges and universities in the U.S., Puerto Rico, Latin America and Spain and school districts in the U.S. HACU headquarters are located in San Antonio, Texas, with regional offices in Sacramento, California and Washington, D.C.

LEARNING THROUGH HANDS-ON EXPERIENCE

A degree from Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine (PCOM) means more. We teach our students to treat the whole person, looking beyond just symptoms. PCOM students engage with the community and learn to collaborate as part of a healthcare team to give the best care.

PCOM recognizes the need for recruiting minority students as we dedicate efforts to close the health disparity gap. The PCOM community cultivates an environment of inquiry, inclusiveness and respect; one that promotes discovery and celebration of our differences, and fosters an appreciation of the rich social fabric that binds us together.

Three pathways to PharmD

"The faculty and staff at LECOM are on the front line of new and ambitious ideas, placing student success as their central focus. I attribute my success directly to the foundational support that the faculty and staff provided me throughout my time at LECOM."

– Ian Toloza
LECOM School of Pharmacy
PharmD Candidate

"I always wanted to help people live their best lives. I realized I could have the most significant impact through education, which made LECOM a perfect fit! The Early Acceptance Program is a prime example of LECOM's commitment to helping our students achieve their professional goals."

"My most vivid memory of the program was being around people who looked and thought like me. It was the most 'at home' I'd felt with a group of people. It made me see where I could fit into medicine. It showed me I could be a doctor. They helped reinforce in me that there was every reason I should enroll in medical school."
