HISPANIC HEALTH DISPARITIES RESEARCH LECTURE AND TRAINING WORKSHOP

April 17, 2015

California State University, Dominguez Hills

Are you a student considering a career in helping to solve health-related problems affecting the Hispanic/Latino community?

The Health Disparities Researcher Information and Training Workshop is designed to provide students a background of the career opportunities and rewards of becoming a health disparities researcher

WORKSHOP FORMAT:

- Presenters include nationally renowned Latino health researchers and mentors
- A Latino graduate student panel
- A light lunch will be provided
- Space is limited

ELIGIBILITY

- Currently enrolled college student with an interest in health research as a professional goal
- Minimum 3.0 GPA
- Submit online application at www.hacu.net/healthdisparities
- Deadline to apply is Friday, April 10, 2015, 5 p.m. CST

As a qualified health researcher, you will possess scientific knowledge and research skills to design studies identifying root causes of Hispanic health disparities and develop programs to resolve the disparities.

Don't miss out on this opportunity to learn about becoming a Health Disparities Researcher.

The workshop is sponsored by the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Minority Health
